

13:22:33 From Daniel Cunningham : Great presentation! Two questions: 1) Have any applicants been rejected and if so, why? 2) Average of amount approved for payment (the 1200 or so in process)?

13:24:16 From Larry Swanson : have a question about self certification /

13:27:59 From Shannon Ross : Great--@Larry Swanson you're up next!

13:29:19 From Joan Carty : have you imposed any quid pro quo for the landlords in exchange for assistance, e.g. extended moratorium on eviction?

13:29:20 From Ellen Lurie Hoffman : Can we get Kevin's slides after the meeting?

13:40:36 From Kevin Nowak : Detroit has a landlord based program as well.

13:41:06 From Chris Persons : We have a similar model in Seattle through the Office of Housing but their funds are going to developers that have City money in them

13:41:12 From Joe Pimmel : We at OCCH have a owner based system but it uses private dollars

13:41:45 From Kate Monter Durban : I think Columbus, Ohio also has a portfolio approach.

13:42:11 From Chris Neary : We have inventoried eviction diversion programs in the states we work on our website. Some have a landlord component - <https://cinnaire.com/eviction-diversion-programs/>

13:53:35 From John O'Callaghan : surprised not to see doubling of LIHTC

13:54:00 From Cathy Williams : Or, expansion of NMTC around homeownership.

13:54:29 From Cathy Williams : My submit button is not working.

13:54:36 From Zoraima Diaz-Pineda : +1 Cathy

13:55:59 From Chad Martin : Doubling of LIHTC feels like top priority from our perspective.

13:57:43 From Nevada Merriman : Doubling of LIHTC - the 4% fix

13:58:00 From Chad Martin : Yes to the 4% fix as well.

14:00:39 From Daniel Cunningham : If we are dreaming, how about making the $600 unemployment bump permanent—gets closer to a stabilization of meeting needs?
