

AGENDA

The Role for Affordable Housing in Addressing Homelessness

CONCURRENT SESSION

Friday, June 7th • 8:30am – 10:00am

Description: Affordable housing has always been one piece of the homelessness puzzle. Building off the meeting's opening plenary session on "homelessness as a housing problem," hear from HPN members who are effectively balancing demands from local jurisdictions and growing funding constraints, all while centering the needs of residents exiting homelessness and creating stable, supportive communities.

Welcome: Robin Hughes | President and CEO of HPN

Discussion:

Discussion Starters:

- Michael Monte | CEO at Champlain Housing Trust
- Lena Andrews | Vice President of Real Estate Development at ACTION-Housing

Reflection Questions:

- What role has public support played in successful housing development to serve households exiting homelessness?
- What types of partnerships (services, operations, referrals) have been most successful?
- How has your organization evolved its approach to addressing homelessness over time?
- How are you advocating for funding or support at a broader scale to enable housing development to serve households exiting homelessness?
